The Bible Story in a Year

START ANY MONDAY · WEEK 1 TO WEEK 52 · 4 TO 5 CHAPTERS A DAY, 5 DAYS A WEEK · ALL 1,189 CHAPTERS

The New Testament Story walks through the New Testament in story order. Now let's read the whole Bible that way. You will start in Genesis, sit with Job in the days of the patriarchs, and read David's psalms right alongside his life. The prophets show up next to the kings they preached to. When the last Old Testament voice goes quiet, Matthew opens with the King. Acts carries Paul's letters along with it, and Revelation brings the whole story home. Every chapter, once, in one year.

Monday through Friday, read four or five chapters. Psalm 119 is long, so that day is lighter on everything else. Saturday and Sunday are grace days: catch up, reread, or rest in what you read. At the end of each week, work through the questions on your own or with your small group. Open your Bible and read the verses before you answer, and let the text do the talking. Where Job, the Psalms, and some of the prophets land is our best estimate, so treat the order as a guide. Start any Monday you like. Write the date in the blank when you begin each week, and check the box as you finish each reading.

Grab your Bible. Let's read. ~ Chris Gallagher

The order at a glance: Genesis 1 to 11; Job; Genesis 12 to 50; Exodus to Deuteronomy with Psalm 90; Joshua, Judges, Ruth; 1 Samuel; David's life in 1 and 2 Samuel and 1 Chronicles with the Psalms; Solomon with 2 Chronicles, Proverbs, Song of Solomon, and Ecclesiastes; the divided kingdom in Kings and Chronicles with the prophets placed in their reigns; Ezekiel and Daniel in exile; Ezra, Haggai, Zechariah, Esther, Nehemiah, and Malachi for the return; the four Gospels; Acts with each letter where it fits; Revelation.
